

Style Notes

BY ANDREA NAVERSEN

Plush Touch

Add a bit of blush to your home décor with this velvet Murphy sofa in a rosy shade from Room & Board. The delicate frame and small scale will fit almost any space. The retailer, which opened its first San Diego County store last summer at Westfield UTC, offers sustainable, artisan-crafted, mostly made-in-America furniture and accessories. Its philosophy: good design should be "modern, beautiful and affordable." 858.732.9535, roomandboard.com

Luxe Living

La Jolla's KAZ Design Group, representing European luxury furniture brands Ligne Roset and Poliform, has announced its 2018 collection. It includes "Cover," clever, comfortable furniture by Ligne Roset that combines form and function with easily removable covers for cleaning. KAZ, located in the Girard Avenue Design District, also features kitchen and bath, decorative and architectural lighting, rugs, and closet and storage systems. The company offers architectural and design services for homes, hotels, and offices. 858.869.0668, kaz-designgroup.com

Future Fridge

"The Living Fridge" took top honors at this year's "Product of the Future" competition during the Kitchen & Bath Industry Show in Orlando, Florida. Jackson Design and Remodeling's Alison Green, a senior interior designer, and her team of "Thirty Under 30" honorees, came up with the winning idea. The concept fridge enables consumers to grow herbs in about a week with growing trays that combine temperature control, grow lights, and automatic watering. Set expiration date alerts, create shopping lists, and craft meal plans with the help of a Bluetooth feature. And watch your garden grow via a refrigerator door cam. The concept gives new meaning to the term, "Go Green." Who knows what Green's team will come up with next? 858.348.5195, jacksondesignandremodeling.com

Seaside Style

Cottage & Bungalow is a one-stop online shop for the elegant coastal lifestyle, offering a curated collection of hand- or custom-made furniture, lighting, home accessories, and beach decor. The company scours furniture markets to find unique pieces that transform homes from cookie-cutter to character-filled. Carolina Lowcountry artists, for example, create a unique collection of lighting, including a three-tier chandelier, meticulously crafted from shells, reeds, old metal, and driftwood found in local marshes. cottageandbungalow.com

May River Empire chandelier