Rancho Days return to RSF Oct. 6-9

The Rancho Santa Fe Association has announced the return of Rancho Days this year on Oct. 6-9. Rancho Days is an annual tradition that celebrates local nonprofit organizations, community connection and the historical nature of Rancho Santa Fe.

This year's festivities span four days and include events suitable for all age groups to enjoy the best of Rancho Santa Fe including Taco Fest, RSF Golf Club's Wild West Party, Family Fun Day, RSF Rotary's Taste of Rancho Santa Fe and much more.

Tickets are required for the following events; The Historical Society's Fandango, RSF Tennis Club's Open Women's Pro Circuit Tournament and the Taste of Rancho Santa Fe.

The Santa Fe Irrigation District will host a succulent potting activity at Family Fun Day and the RSF Foundation will offer members the chance to cast a vote for the winner of a special grant. Contact the RSF Association for more information and details of the events at (858) 756-1174 or Kiersten@rsfassociation.org. See the full schedule above.

Rancho Santa Fe home among HGTV Designer of the Year Award nominees

BY KAREN BILLING

A Rancho Santa Fe home's kitchen re-do is in the running for the 2022 HGTV Designer of the Year Awards in the category of "Dramatic Before and Afters." Jackson Design and Remodeling transformed a "dark and dated" kitchen into a bright, warm and modern space for a young family in the Ranch.

Winners are selected by the public and voting is online through Sept. 27 at 5 p.m.

Senior Interior Designer Jen Pinto led the JDR team in the design. The remodel kept the elements of the home's historically-inspired American Colonial design, including brick flooring and a butcher block countertop, while opening up the space with a more modern style.

Gray and white cabinetry replaced dark wood and multiple windows and doors open to the backyard and garden. The bar's copper sink, marble tile backsplash and open shelving created a focal point for the couple who frequently entertains.

Vote online at hgtv.com. Winners will be announced Sept. 28 on HGTV.com.
